National Science Day Celebrations

National Science Day was celebrated on 28th February, 2024 in commemoration of the Raman Effect of Sir CV Raman with great fervour and enthusiasm in the premises of our college. The event was organized collaboratively by all the science departments, aiming to foster a spirit of scientific inquiry and innovation among the students. Dr. P. Bharathi Devi, Lecturer in Computer Science, captivated the audience with her presentation on the rapid advancements in technology. She showcased a video featuring a Robot Teacher from Indus International School, Bengaluru, illustrating how technology is transforming various sectors. Through examples like Priyadarshini from the iconic movie "Mayabazar" and Maya Tiwachi, she demonstrated the evolution of technology from the past to the present. Dr. B. Srinivasa Rao, Lecturer in Hindi and Vice-Principal, emphasized the importance of innovation in his address to the students. He encouraged them to think innovatively and explore opportunities to apply their ideas as patents, thereby contributing to technological advancements and societal progress. Dr. M. Yanadi Rao, Lecturer in Chemistry, elucidated the significance of National Science Day and engaged the audience with an intriguing explanation of why the sea appears blue. His insightful talk sparked curiosity among the students and highlighted the importance of scientific inquiry in understanding natural phenomena. Sri G. Rajasekhar, Lecturer in Zoology, motivated the students to utilize their free time effectively by learning programming languages and enhancing their technical skills. He shared inspiring stories, including the story of a 7th-grade student securing a job at NASA, to underscore the transformative power of technical expertise. The event concluded by Sri T. Polaiyah, Lecturer in English, delivering a vote of thanks to all the participants, organizers, and speakers.

Consultancy Service of Dept Botany - Sold organic Leafy vegetables grown in the campus.

The consultancy service provided by the Department of Botany, where organic Leafy vegetables grown on the campus are sold to the faculty and principal, is a noteworthy initiative. Involving students in the cultivation and sale of organic vegetables provides them with practical experience in various aspects of agriculture, including planting, nurturing, harvesting, and marketing. Smt.K.V.Ramana and students collected the Leafy veggies and sold to the faculty and principal and said that this hands-on learning is a valuable supplement to theoretical knowledge.

Guest Lecture on “Higher Education in Abroad - Benefits & How to prepare”

The career guidance cell of our college conducted a programme on “Higher Education in Abroad - Benefits & How to prepare” on 12th February, 2024. The speaker of this programme was Mr.S.Harsha Vardan from Nagarjuna Sagar. Mr.Ayyappa, Guest faculty in the department of History inviting the guests on to the dais and Dr.J.Lakshmi Kumari, principal presided over the function and motivated the students to practice daily one hour to improve their communication skills. The speaker addressed the gathering the steps to follow to study higher education in abroad in detail. To prepare for studying abroad, start by researching universities and programs that align with your academic goals and interests. Then, focus on meeting admission requirements, which often include standardized tests like the TOEFL or SAT, compiling necessary documents such as transcripts and letters of recommendation, and preparing a compelling application essay.

Condolence meeting

On February 20th, a condolence meeting was convened by the principal of our college to commemorate the passing of our beloved herbarium keeper, Sri Amaresam Srinivas.
